

H.K. Belvedere @HKBelvedere

7 Jun · 19 tweets · HKBelvedere/status/1269577604488663041

The destruction of the human soul is almost complete - The masses are no more informed or enlightened than they were hundreds of years ago, but today, things are worse, there is a deeper-rooted problem, a sickness of the soul, let's go deeper - THREAD

I was looking at old pictures of a soccer team I like yesterday, the picture was black and white and it dates from the late 1800s. I was gobsmacked when I saw how different the men looked then compared to men today. It hit me like a tonne of bricks

Every single one of those guys looks hard as nails, proper high T upright tough guys, how many today can say they have this kind of aura around them? Wow, what the hell happened to people over the years? It never occurred overnight, this was a gradual process over a long period

The same goes for woman also, I did a thread the other week and I had some pictures of suffragette woman and they were the same, upright, confident, they had dignity and so much more self-respect about them, it all seems to have been lost somewhere along the line and replaced

With gormless soulless, empty and vapid stares, and people who are just waiting to be fed into the fire, lambs for the slaughter, slaves, not just physically but more worryingly - spiritually. Let's discuss why -

There are many factors but I have compiled a list as to what I think the main issues were that created this empty society -

1. Destruction of the family unit - The family unit is the cornerstone of any great civilization - with the downfall of Christain values and the rise of feminism, liberalism, promiscuity, online hookup culture, its been a slippery slope for the nuclear family unit and it's now all coming home to roost, the single mothers and the dead beat scumbag fathers who the woman select for breeding as a lot of them don't have a good Father

To vet potential partners before they get pregnant. I hope the woman who read this don't take it the wrong way, or take it personally, but we need to stop dancing around the blatant facts here and tackle this disease head-on or else we will continue marching into the fire - with sheer defiance and it will end our way of life as we know it forever.

2 - The rise of Technology - Technology is a gift and a curse, it has allowed us all to connect with each other 24/7 at our fingertips. We have the reach our ancestors could not even imagine - in their wildest dreams, yet, somehow, we are more isolated and disconnected than ever. Smartphones are one of the biggest culprits, they are EXTREMELY addictive and with the rise of social media over the past decade we now spend so much time sucked into a false reality

Its sometimes a great way to escape the harsh realities of normal life, but I feel now, the internet is now a permanent home for many people and they are becoming more and more cut off from the old physical society that used to be the foundation of our culture.

Now our culture is on platforms controlled by HUGE centralized corporations who are more and more using censorship and AI to suppress any "undesirable" information being shared and more importantly repeated by a mass audience.

3 - The rise of pornography - This ties into the previous point about smartphones/internet of course. Pornography is the biggest and most understated weapon that has ever been unleashed on the general public, it has done UNTOLD damage to so many people, but It affects men more than women. Watching porn is very addictive and scientific studies have shown it literally shrinks grey matter of the brain when abused. Young guys with devilish smartphones are now growing up, jerking themselves into hell looking at more screwed up porn as they seek out

New thrills each time. Porn targets men's natural instincts to spread their seed with as many women as possible and these unlimited amounts of websites and fetishes to pick from keep that lust for new content possible. We are now getting to the point where men are trying to quit or reduce the amount of porn they watch, rather than trying to find an honest and loving relationship that has longevity. The reasons they end up in this rut is also due to the first 2 points I made earlier in the thread. Its all connected - all by design. This is not an accident

I'm guilty of indulging in the above issues, so please don't think I'm on some moral crusade or high horse. I was led down these dark paths myself completely unaware of the danger, so I can't judge people who have fell into the same vile trap, the horrid spider web of degradation

I have managed to suppress these demons, I was lucky, I untangled my way out of the web of sin before the evil spider could devour me, I had the venom injected into my heart, but I managed to wriggle free just before my heartbeat stopped and the spider sucked out my soul

You can defeat the spider also - rise up and admit you have been woefully misled and scammed - then draw your sword, your weapon from God and chop the spider's ugly little head clean off and free yourself from the web of hell! END THREAD.

...